Increasing the Footprint of Forensic Nursing

Have you wanted to know more about the roles forensic nurses can play in the health care environment and the community? This workshop is for you! Experts in the field will shed light on topics from the wider field related to abuse and neglect. From exploring the impact of violence on families and communities to strengthening the systemic response to violence, we will be paving new ground for forensic nurses.

This workshop will explore the latest research on violence and the intersection of many forms of violence across the lifespan, the community and response in a clinical setting.

The role and functioning of medical legal partnerships will be discussed as well as their application to the clinical setting.

The role of the forensic nurse on community coalition boards will be explored, along with strategies for gaining a seat and fulfilling the duties of a board member.

Topics include:

- Intersection of animal abuse, child abuse and intimate partner violence
- Research on IPV
- Elder abuse
- Domestic violence fatality review teams
- Resource utilization in research

Objectives

Upon completion of this program the learner will be able to:

- Describe the role of the medical legal partnership in a clinical setting.
- Understand the intersectionality of and interventions to mitigate the impact of animal abuse, child abuse and intimate partner violence.
- Recognize and apply methods for developmentally appropriate, trauma-informed structure or open-ended interviews to elicit sexual abuse histories from children.
- Review the role and recognize contributions of forensic nurses on state coalition boards.
- Describe the contributions of the Virginia Henderson library, its resources and the need for sustainability through the future nursing workforce.
- Explore the newest intimate partner violence and elder abuse evidence and reflect about the integration of evidence into forensic nursing practices.
